

Fall Virtual Recruitment Professional Development Series

September 21, 2016 to November 16, 2016

Dear Federal Hiring Manager or Human Resources Practitioner,

As competition for talent heats up, you need to be able to turn qualified job seekers into applicants. By focusing on the fundamentals of recruitment, this virtual series brings you the knowledge you need to increase applicant quality while managing applicant volume.

An experienced recruiting professional will walk you through how to plan, execute, and evaluate your recruiting efforts. You will learn to approach recruiting by seeking out the talent you need by creating consistency and clarity of purpose while improving applicant experience.

Sign-up for the entire series or choose a particular area of interest:
